

WebStudy LMS – Privacy Statement

WebStudy Inc. has created this privacy statement in order to demonstrate its firm commitment to privacy. The following discloses information gathering and dissemination practices for the website WebStudy.com and its affiliated application the WebStudy LMS.

We do not sell our customer names, addresses, or other information to third parties for any purpose.

We may use your IP address to help diagnose problems with our server, and to administer our application.

This site contains links to other sites. WebStudy is not responsible for the privacy practices or the content of such web sites.

WebStudy uses cookies to provide convenient automatic login to WebStudy LMS. Using cookies, your browser can "remember" your user name and password so that you're logged in and ready to participate in the community whenever you're using the application. If you check the "Remember this password" box when prompted by the browser, you won't have to sign in each time you come back. If you are concerned that other people might accidentally use your account, do not check the box. Also, if you use a shared computer (in a library, Internet cafe, university, airport or other common area) do not check the checkbox. The WebStudy LMS will require a user ID and password each time you visit the LMS – unless your school utilizes an SSO (single sign-on) portal. Be sure to close your browser or, preferably, click "LOGOUT" when you leave your computer. You can always sign off at any time by clicking the "LOGOUT" link at the bottom of each page. Once you've logged out, you can log on again and choose whether your browser "remembers" your logon credentials or not.

WebStudy.com discloses aggregated user statistics (for example, "75% of our users are students") in order to describe our services to prospective partners and other third parties, and for other lawful purposes.

Security

This site has security measures in place to protect the loss, misuse and alteration of the information stored therein.
